EXPLANATORY NOTES

Introduction

In July 1982 a survey, based on the monthly population survey, was conducted throughout Australia to provide details of the labour force status of family members, their relationship to the family head and family composition.

2. Tables 1 to 12 of this publication show estimates of the family status of persons aged 15 years and over classified by age, birthplace and other variables, while Tables 13 to 37 show information about married-couple and other families—for example, number of dependent children present, labour force status of husband, wife or head of other family. In this issue estimates for each State and Territory are presented for the first time; see Tables 4 and 22. Also shown (in Tables 11, 12, 16, 17, 28 and 37) are data formerly included in Persons Looking For Work, Australia (6222.0).

3. The survey was based on a multi-stage area sample of private dwellings (about 30,000 houses, flats, etc.) and non-private dwellings (hotels, motels, etc.) and covered about two-thirds of one per cent of the population of Australia. The information was obtained from the occupants of selected dwellings by carefully chosen and specially trained interviewers, the interviews being conducted during the two weeks beginning on Monday 11 July 1982. The information obtained relates to the week before the interview (i.e. the survey week).

Scope

4. The survey included all persons aged fifteen years and over except:

- (a) members of the permanent defence forces;
- (b) certain diplomatic personnel of overseas governments, customarily excluded from census and estimated populations;
- (c) overseas visitors holidaying in Australia;
- (d) members of non-Australian defence forces (and their dependents) stationed in Australia; and
- (e) boarding school students, patients in hospitals and sanatoria and inmates of reformatories, gaols, and other institutions.

5. In addition, 62,300 married-couple families (37,100 with dependent children present) where either the husband or the wife was out of scope of the survey (as defined in paragraph 4) or whose current period of absence from the household was expected to be more than six weeks, have been excluded from the family tables (Tables 13 to 37) in this publication. However, all persons who came within the scope of the survey were included in Tables 1 to 12. For this reason, and because of the different weighting factors that were applied for each sex, the estimated number of husbands (3,477,800) does not equal the estimated number of wives (3,388,200) in Tables 3 and 6.

6. The labour force survey part of the population survey upon which this survey was based includes persons listed in paragraph 4(c). For this reason, as well as slightly different weighting procedures and the exclusion of permanently separated persons from the definition of the marriage relationship in this survey (see paragraph 21), estimates in this publication differ slightly from those that appear in Table 3 of the July 1982 issue of The Labour Force, Australia (6203.0).

Definitions*Labour force*

7. The labour force category to which a person is assigned depends on his or her actual activity (i.e. whether working, looking for work, etc.) during the survey week. The following definitions, which conform closely to the international standard definitions specified by the International Labour Organisation (ILO), relate only to those persons within the scope of the survey.

8. Employed persons comprise all those aged 15 years and over who, during the survey week:

- (a) worked for one hour or more for pay, profit, commission or payment in kind in a job or business, or on a farm (including employees, employers and self-employed persons); or
- (b) worked for 15 hours or more without pay in a family business or on a farm (i.e. unpaid family helpers); or
- (c) were employees who had a job but were not at work and were: on paid leave; on leave without pay for less than four weeks up to the end of the survey week; stood down without pay because of bad weather or plant breakdown at their place of employment for less than four weeks up to the end of the survey week; on strike or locked out; on workers' compensation and expected to be returning to their job; or receiving wages or salary while undertaking full-time study; or
- (d) were employers or self-employed persons who had a job, business or farm, but were not at work.

9. Unemployed persons are those aged 15 years and over who were not employed during the survey week, and

- (a) had actively looked for full-time or part-time work at any time in the four weeks up to the end of the survey week and:
 - (i) were available for work in the survey week, or would have been available except for temporary illness (i.e. lasting for less than four weeks to the end of the survey week); or
 - (ii) were waiting to start a new job within four weeks from the end of the survey week and would have started in the survey week if the job had been available then;

or (b) were waiting to be called back to a full-time or part-time job from which they had been stood down without pay for less than four weeks up to the end of the survey week (including the whole of the survey week) for reasons other than bad weather or plant breakdown.

10. The unemployment rate for any group is the number unemployed expressed as a percentage of the labour force in the same group.

11. Duration of unemployment is the period from the time the person began looking for work or was laid off to the end of the survey week. Periods of unemployment are recorded in complete weeks and this results in a slight understatement of duration. Average (mean) duration is the duration obtained by dividing the aggregate number of weeks a group has been unemployed by the number of persons in that group. Median duration is the duration which divides unemployed persons into two equal groups, one comprising persons whose duration of unemployment is above the median and the other, persons whose duration is below it. Medians are calculated from group data, linear interpolation being used within the group which contains the median.

12. The labour force comprises all persons who, during the survey week, were employed or unemployed, as defined in paragraphs 8 and 9.

13. The labour force participation rate for any group is the labour force expressed as a percentage of the civilian population aged 15 years and over in the same group.

14. Full-time workers are those who usually work 35 hours or more a week and others who, although usually part-time workers, worked 35 hours or more during the survey week. Part-time workers are those who usually work less than 35 hours a week and who did so during the survey week.

15. Hours of work. The figures refer to actual hours worked during the survey week, not hours paid for. They may be affected by public holidays, leave, absenteeism; temporary absence from work due to sickness, injury, accident and industrial disputes; and stoppages of work due to bad weather, plant breakdown, etc. Fractions of an hour are disregarded and this results in slightly lower figures than would be the case if actual time worked was recorded.

16. Persons not in the labour force are those who, during the survey week, were not in the categories 'employed' or 'unemployed', as defined in paragraphs 8 and 9.

17. Persons classified by labour force status are classified according to whether or not they are in the labour force. Persons in the labour force classified by employment status are classified according to whether they are employed or unemployed. Employed persons classified by status of worker are classified according to whether they are employers, self-employed persons, wage and salary earners (employees), or unpaid family helpers (who worked 15 hours or more in the survey week).

18. Main English-speaking countries comprise the United Kingdom, Ireland, Canada, the United States of America, New Zealand and South Africa.

19. Other countries comprise all countries outside Australia other than the main English-speaking countries mentioned in paragraph 18.

20. A dwelling may contain one or more households, and separate households were considered to exist within a dwelling when:

- (a) a group of one or more persons considered themselves to be a separate household from others in the dwelling;
- (b) regular provision was made for groups to take meals at different times or in different rooms; or
- (c) a dwelling contained one or more lodgers, who received accommodation, but no meals; each lodger was then considered to be a separate household.

A household may consist of any number of families and non-family members. A boarder who received both accommodation and meals was not considered to constitute a separate household.

21. Married persons comprise all those who consider themselves as married and whose spouse is present at the time of the survey. Marital status does not necessarily reflect legal status (e.g. defacto relationships are regarded as 'married'). Not-married persons comprise those who are never married, widowed, divorced, and permanently separated.

Family relationships

22. The determination of family relationships and composition is complex, involving many factors. The following description outlines the major principles used for this survey. A family is defined to consist of two or more related persons usually resident in the same household at the time of the survey. A family comprises a married couple or a family head (as defined in paragraph 24) together with any persons having any of the following relationships to them:

- (a) sons or daughters of any age, if not married and with no children of their own less than 15 years of age present;
- (b) other relatives if not accompanied by a spouse, sons or daughters, or parents of their own; or
- (c) any children under 15 years of age who do not have a parent present.

23. The following points should be noted in relation to the definition of a family in the previous paragraph:

- (a) visitors to a household are persons who are not considered to be usually resident in the household. Regardless of relationship, they are not combined with usual residents to form families. Visitors who usually reside together as a separate household are treated as a separate family in accordance with paragraph 22;

- (b) the term relationship includes relationships by blood, marriage or adoption;
- (c) a family, as defined, can contain no more than two married persons, and can contain two married persons only if these persons are husband and wife (referred to as married couple families);
- (d) other families are families other than married couple families as defined above. In addition to one-parent families, this category includes families in which there is no parent, for example a family head living with a brother or sister;
- (e) persons are defined as not a member of a family if they are not related to any other member of the household in which they are living. A person is considered to be living alone if he or she is the sole member of a household. Thus, a person who is the sole occupant of a self-contained flat attached to another dwelling is considered to be living alone;
- (f) the terms usually reside and present are synonymous, and refer to persons who are usually living in a household at the time of the survey.

24. The family head of an other family is the parent in the case of a one-parent family or, in the case of other groups of related persons, it is generally defined to be the eldest person in the family. No family head is defined for a married-couple family.

25. Dependent children comprise all family members under 15 years of age and all family members aged 15 to 20 years who are full-time students.

Comparability of series

26. Estimates for the July 1979, July 1980, June 1981 and July 1982 surveys are based on population estimates derived from the results of the 1976 Population Census (adjusted for underenumeration) and a revised population survey questionnaire. Therefore care should be used in comparing estimates from these surveys with those obtained from earlier surveys.

Reliability of the estimates

27. Since the estimates in this publication are based on information obtained from occupants of a sample of dwellings, they may differ from the figures that would have been produced if the information had been obtained from occupants of all dwellings. More information on this topic is given in the Technical note.

SUMMARY OF FINDINGS

Labour Force Status and Other Characteristics of Families, July 1982.

In July 1982, the estimated number of families was 4,002,600 comprising 3,466,400 married couple families and 536,200 other families (104,800 with a male head and 431,500 with a female head.)

In 41.2 per cent of married couple families, both husband and wife were in the labour force. Of these 58.9 per cent had dependent children present. 17.6 per cent of married couple families had no family member employed, 35.2 per cent had one member employed, and 47.2 per cent had two or more members employed. The corresponding figures in July 1980 were 15.5 per cent for no family member employed, 35.9 per cent for one employed, and 48.6 per cent for two or more employed.

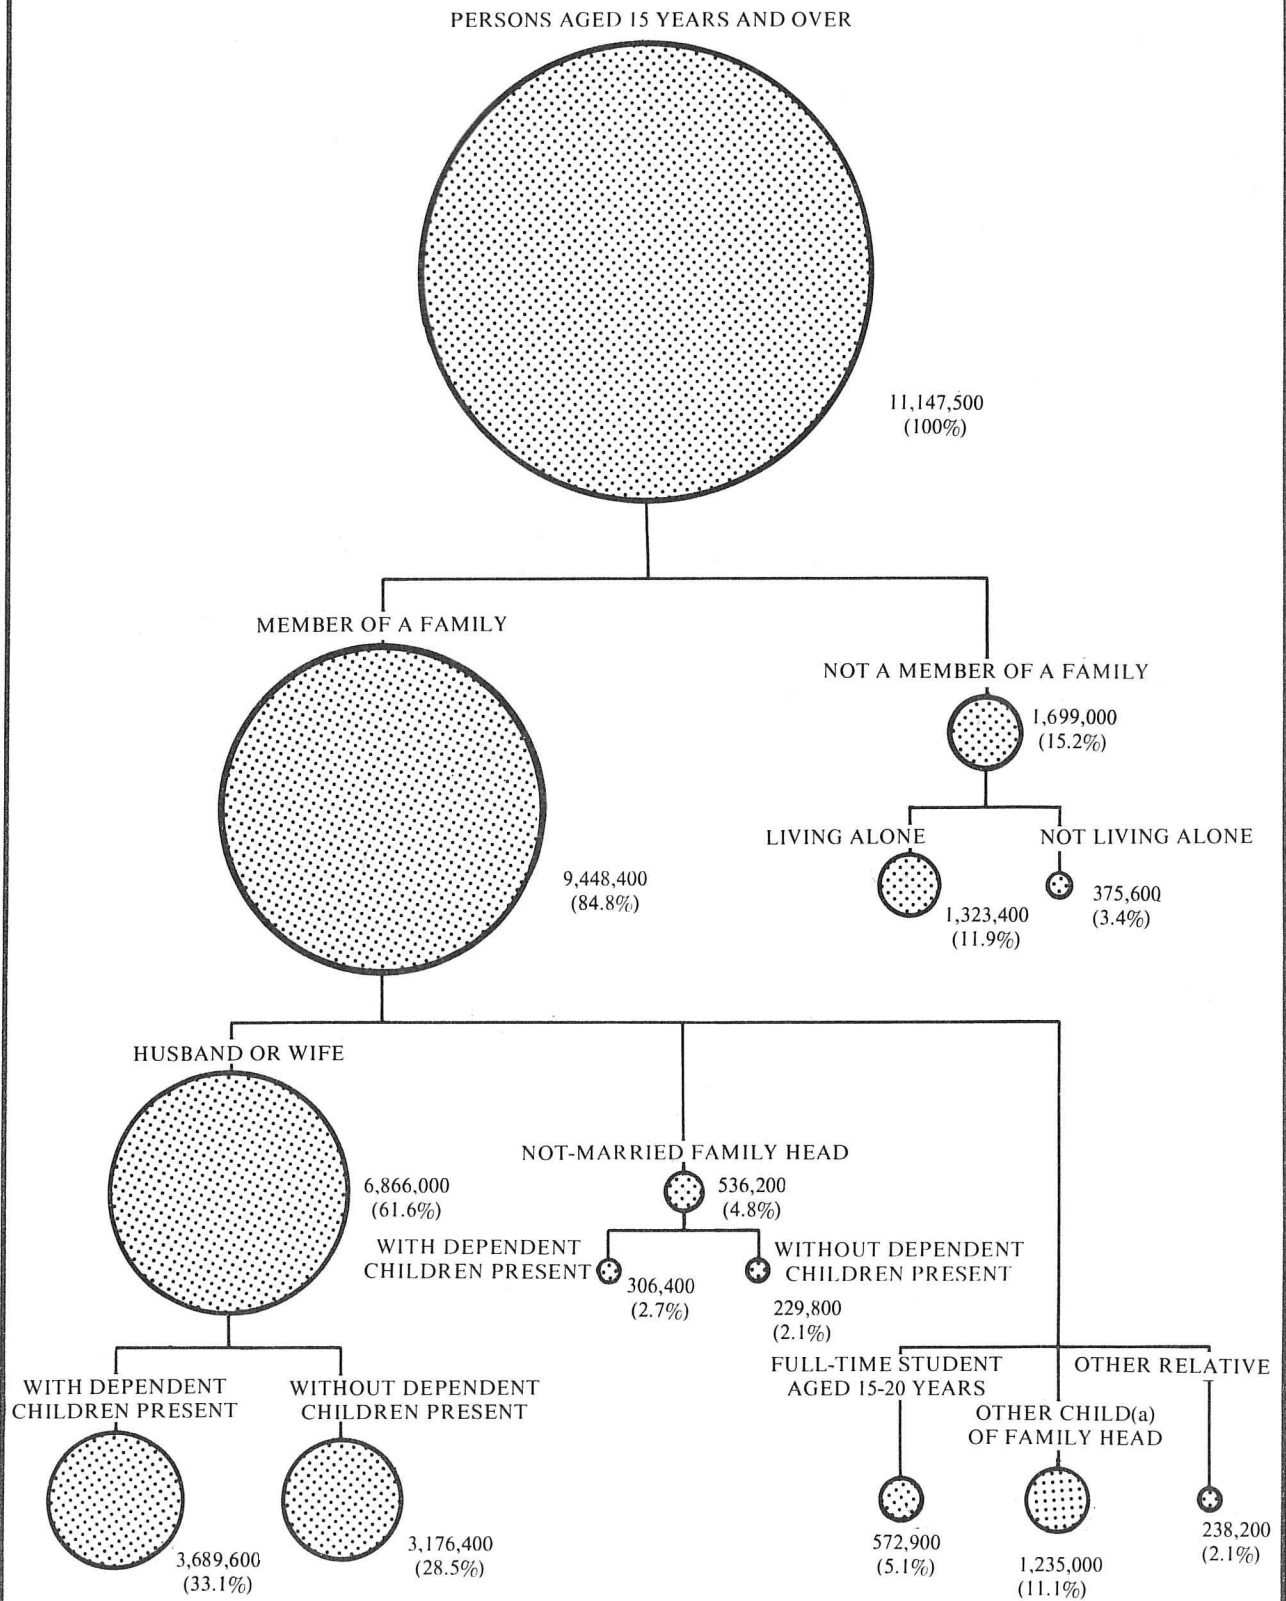

In 325,600 families, at least one member was unemployed. 108,600 of these families contained no employed persons. 258,600 married couple families had one or more members unemployed, and of these 73,600 had no member of the family employed (including 47,000 families with dependent children present). In 87,200 married couple families, the husband was unemployed and in only 18,700 of these families was the wife employed.

Of the 1,699,000 persons who were not members of families, 1,323,400 lived alone. Of these 416,000 were persons aged 65 years and over. 52,500 persons living alone were unemployed—an unemployment rate of 7.5 per cent. This compares with rates of 6.2 per cent for those persons who were members of families and 3.2 per cent for husbands with dependent children.

The estimates are derived from the population survey by use of a complex ratio estimation procedure, which ensures that the survey estimates conform to an independently estimated distribution of the population by age and sex, rather than to the age and sex distribution within the sample itself.

2. Since the estimates in this publication are based on information obtained from occupants of a sample of dwellings, they are subject to sampling variability; that is, they may differ from the figures that would have been produced if all dwellings had been included. One measure of the likely difference is given by the standard error, which indicates the extent to which an estimate might have varied by chance because only a sample of dwellings was included in the survey. There are about two chances in three that a sample estimate will differ by less than one standard error from the figure that would have been obtained if all dwellings had been included in the survey, and about nineteen chances in twenty that the difference will be less than two standard errors.

head is 431,500. From the table below it will be seen that this estimate has a standard error of about 6,800 and therefore there are about two chances in three that the value that would have been produced if all dwellings had been included in the survey will fall within the range 424,700 to 438,300 and about nineteen chances in twenty that it will fall within the range 417,900 to 445,100.

4. The reliability of an estimated percentage computed by using sample data for both numerator and denominator depends upon both the size of the numerator and the size of the denominator. However, the per cent standard error of the estimated percentage will generally be lower than the per cent standard error of the estimate of the numerator. The per cent standard error of the numerator can be obtained from the table below.

5. As the standard errors in the table below show, the smaller the estimate the higher is the relative standard error. Very small estimates are thus subject to such high standard errors (relative to the size of the estimate) as to detract seriously from their value for most reasonable uses. Although figures for these small components can in some cases be derived by subtraction, they should not be regarded as reliable.

6. The imprecision due to sampling variability, which is measured by the standard error, should not be confused with inaccuracies that may occur because of imperfections in reporting by interviewers and respondents. Inaccuracies of this kind are referred to as the non-sampling error, and they may occur in any enumeration, whether it be a full count or a sample. Every effort is made to reduce the non-sampling error to a minimum by careful design of questionnaires, intensive training and supervision of interviewers and efficient operating procedures.
